

Where in the world?

Canal du Midi, Southern France

WHY TOUR HERE?

The UNESCO World Heritage-designated Canal du Midi runs some 150 miles through southern France, connecting the lively city of Toulouse to the Mediterranean coast. It's a food-lover's dream: following its banks takes you through some of France's most famous gastronomic and wine-producing areas. Gary Blake did just that: you can read his Grand Tour beginning on p24.
